RANGEMASTER SOUND OFF

By: Tim Geiser – CRSO • www.crsotim@aol.com

It is, as I write, almost Christmas. The kids are dreaming of sugar plums and all the fun things that Santa will leave under the tree.

Some of the lucky kids are even dreaming about the new .22 that Santa might bring them. Of course, as the Chief Range Safety Officer, my thoughts tended toward more esoteric thoughts such as how many of those kids are going to get a new gun or archery set and what measures do I need to take to make certain those kids are properly trained!

Frank Alesio will do a good job with the archery I am sure. The association has now begun its new archery training course for the youngsters. I am sure that Frank will make room for a few more.

Rifles and shotguns are always a bit more of a challenge, but we have Ren Everett and Craig Rogers along with Frank Alesio's Youth Shotgun. They have all done yeoman's work with their youth shooting programs. These guys are as good as it gets, so what is still bothering me? Ah yes, now I know! Where do the parents fit into all of this? Parents you must review the range safety rules with your kids every time you go to the range with them. It isn't enough to simply know the rules; you must insure that they are followed. Safety is everyone's job and range safety is never to be taken lightly.

At the December general meeting I was somewhat remiss in thanking all the RSOs who give so much of their time each year. We hold a RMAD (Range Master Appreciation Day) each year as one way of offering appreciation for all their hard work. All things considered it is a fairly thankless task, yet one which is so important to running our range properly. You guys and ladies have done a superb job. I wish to thank each and every one of you, your Board thanks you and I would trust that the general membership will join us in applauding your efforts.

The AED (Automatic Electronic Defibrillator) is now installed on the metal box next to the meeting hall kitchen window. If you don't know how to use it consider taking our next first aid class. I will be announcing the next class as soon as possible. Any RSOs who wish to complete their NRA certifications please check with me as soon as possible. I will send an email to everyone I have on record, but records get screwed up sometimes. Probably has something to do with the Obama administration!

Hope you all had a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

WANTED

Looking for someone with expertise and tooling for the build of an AK 47 kit. I purchased a Polish AKM 47 kit online from Arms America. This Kit is in such excellent material condition; I would hate to hack it up. I hoped to join a build party but have had no luck finding one to sign up for. If you can help or can refer me to someone please contact me at matthew.stanley.858@gmail.com.
